PREFACE.

In the Annual Report of the Public Library for the year 1869 the Superintendent says: "It has been thought that Franklin is to Boston of something like the same importance [as that of Shakespeare to England], and I have lost no opportunity of securing what I could, illustrative of the man and his works, and hope the collection may prove in the end of credit to the city of his birth." Since that time it has been one of the objects of the Library to secure anything of interest in this direction in order to make as complete a collection as possible of Franklin literature.

In the Preface, printed in 1883, it was stated that Part III of this Catalogue would conclude "with a list of portraits of Franklin, with some notice of his manuscripts, autographs, and other miscellaneous matter." This promise had not been fulfilled up to the time of the publication of Mr. Paul Leicester Ford's Franklin Bibliography (Brooklyn, 1889), a thorough and admirable work which makes it unnecessary to continue the present attempt. A projected Appendix even now seems superfluous with Mr. Ford's book easily accessible. It is possible however that the Boston Public Library may in the future issue a list of Franklin portraits, a subject upon which Mr. Ford does not touch. Such a list would be quite independent of this Catalogue.

from Doctor Green, and several were purchased by him. To these volumes must be added about 250 other volumes from the general library, whose titles are included in the lists. The total number of volumes thus far discovered in the Public Library, written by, printed by, or relating to, Benjamin Franklin is therefore something over 550. No account in this numbering is taken of the volumes of serial publications referred to.

This catalogue has been prepared by Mr. Lindsay Swift; considerable preliminary work having been done by Mrs. Anna C. D. Keen. The whole has received the revision of Mr. Whitney, in charge of the Catalogue Department.

The Trustees desire to be apprized of any known work by or upon Franklin not included in these lists, and to receive information which shall enable them to increase the collection.

An acknowledgment is due to those persons who have helped to make this catalogue more perfect, especially to Doctor Samuel A. Green; Mr. Lloyd P. Smith, Librarian of the Library Company of Philadelphia; Mr. Thompson Westcott, of Philadelphia; Mr. W. H. Huntington, of Paris; and Mr. Thorvald Solberg, of the Library of Congress.

PREFACE.

In the Annual Report of the Public Library for the year 1869 the Superintendent says: "It has been thought that Franklin is to Boston of something like the same importance [as that of Shakespeare to England], and I have lost no opportunity of securing what I could, illustrative of the man and his works, and hope the collection may prove in the end of credit to the city of his birth." Since that time it has been one of the objects of the Library to secure anything of interest in this direction, in order to make as complete a collection as possible of Franklin literature.

The growth of the collection, however, had not been considerable, until two years ago, when Doctor Samuel A. Green presented to the Library his Franklin books, pamphlets, engravings, portraits, etc. To these have been added similar books from the general collection, and the whole have been placed on shelves set apart for them. As stated in the Annual Report for 1880, Dr. Green's donation has led to some important additions from other sources, among them some interesting gifts from William S. Appleton, Esquire.

Lists of the titles of this collection have been published in the several Bulletins of the Public Library for 1882 and 1883, and are now, with some additions and changes of arrangement, reprinted in the present form. Part I. contains the titles of books, or parts of books, written by Franklin. The titles of such of these books as are in the Public Library are designated by shelf-numbers; other titles have been taken from sale catalogues and other sources, and may not always be exact. Any information in respect to them or to additional titles will be gladly received. The arrangement is alphabetical; but in the case of a work having many editions, as the Life; or Way to wealth, the various editions are placed chronologically.

Part II. contains Frankliniana, or books, pamphlets, broadsides, etc., relating to Franklin, now in the Public Library or desired by it. In this and the first part a number of references is made to the Gentleman's magazine, and the Philosophical transactions of the Royal Society, and other older serial publications, which contain articles by or about Franklin. It will be noticed, however, that, to no great extent, have references been made to articles in magazines, critical reviews and the like.

Part III. contains the titles of whatever was printed or published by Franklin himself, or in partnership with others, so far as ascertainable. The titles of desiderata in this direction must necessarily be very imperfect. The third part concludes with a list of portraits of Franklin, and engravings, with some notice of his manuscripts, autographs, and other miscellaneous matter.

There are at present more than 300 separate volumes in the special Franklin library; this numbering considers a bound volume of pamphlets as only one volume. Of these, 150 were received from Doctor Green, and several were purchased with the interest of a historical fund established by him. To these volumes must be added about 250 other volumes from the general library, whose titles are included in the lists. The total number of volumes thus far discovered in the Public Library, written by, printed by, or relating to, Benjamin Franklin is therefore something over 550. No account in this numbering is taken of the volumes of serial publications referred to.

This catalogue has been prepared by Mr. Lindsay Swift; considerable preliminary work having been done by Mrs. Anna C. D. Keen. The whole has received the revision of Mr. Whitney, in charge of the Catalogue Department.

The Trustees desire to be apprized of any known work by or upon Franklin not included in these lists, and to receive information which shall enable them to increase the collection.

An acknowledgment is due to those persons who have helped to make this catalogue more perfect, especially to Doctor Samuel A. Green; Mr. Lloyd P. Smith, Librarian of the Library Company of Philadelphia; Mr. Thompson Westcott, of Philadelphia; Mr. W. H. Huntington, of Paris; and Mr. Thorvald Solberg, of the Library of Congress.

PART I.

WORKS OF FRANKLIN.

Abridgment of the Book of common prayer, and administration of the sacraments, and other rites and ceremonies of the church, according to the use of the Church of England, together with the Psalter. West Wycombe: printed in MDCCLXXIII. 8°.

This abridgment was made by Sir Francis Dashwood, and privately printed at the expense of Lord Le Despencer, who asked Franklin to assist. Franklin abridged the catechism to two questions: What is your duty to God? What is your duty to your neighbour? He contracted the Psalms by leaving out the repetitions and imprecations, and wrote the preface to the work, which did not prove successful.

An abridgment of Mr. [Samuel] Hopkins's Historical memoirs, relating to the Housatunnuk or Stockbridge Indians. Philadelphia: B. Franklin and D. Hall. M,DCC,LVII. 40 pp. 16°. K.14.10

The introduction is by Franklin.

A dissertation on liberty and necessity. London, printed in MDCCXXV. 32 pp. 8°.

Probably impossible to find. Henry Stevens's collection contained a copy, and so did the Huth library. Sparks was unable to see one. Of this work Franklin says, "There were only a hundred copies printed of which I gave a few to friends and afterwards . . . burnt the rest, except one copy, . . . I was not nineteen years of age when it was written. In 1730 I wrote a piece on the other side of the question . . . This pamphlet was never printed." Charles Whittingham, about 1852, reprinted twenty-five copies of the "Dissertation" in fac-simile, for Henry Stevens. There is a reprint in Parton's Life and times of Franklin.

Dedicated to Franklin. Contains Franklin's letter to Miss Stephenson, dated September 28, 1768. On page 407 it is mentioned that Franklin had compiled a dictionary on a basis of reform, and had procured types for it; but thinking himself too old, had proposed the undertaking to Webster.

Father Abraham's speech to a great number of people, at a vendue of merchant-goods; introduced to the publick by Poor Richard (a famous Pennsylvanian conjuror and almanack-maker), in answer to the following questions: Pray, Father Abraham, what do you think of the times? Won't these heavy taxes quite ruin the country? How shall we be ever able to pay them? What would you advise us to? B. Mecom, Boston. [1760.] 16 pp. Frontispiece. Sm. 8^o. K.14.9

The frontispiece is a folded woodcut broadside, entitled "Father Abraham in his study," and having the same imprint as the book. There is also a rare portrait inserted, engraved by Goldar. The publisher of this first edition, B. Mecom, was Franklin's nephew and apprentice. On the verso of the title-page is: "Father Abraham's speech is the comely off-spring of that Franklyncean genius," etc. For other editions, see the Way to wealth.

A letter to a friend in the country, containing the substance of a sermon preach'd at Philadelphia, in the congregation of the Rev. Mr. Hemphill, concerning the terms of Christian and ministerial communion. Philadelphia: B. Franklin. 1735. 40 pp. 12°. K.25.29

"About the year 1734, there arrived among us a young Presbyterian preacher, named Hemphill [etc.]. . . I became his zealous partisan and contributed all I could to raise a party in his favor . . . There was much scribbling pro and con upon the occasion; and finding, that, though an elegant preacher, he was but a poor writer, I wrote for him two or three pamphlets, and a piece in the Gazette of April, 1735. Those pamphlets . . . were soon out of vogue, and I question whether a single copy of them now exists." — Franklin's Autobiography.

"None of these pamphlets has been found. Several anonymous tracts on the subject are advertised in the Pennsylvania Gazette, in the months of July, September, and October, 1735, some of which are probably the same that are here mentioned, as having been written by Franklin." — Sparks.

It is possible that the present pamphlet is one of those referred to above. Its preface, "The publisher to his lay-readers," is by Franklin.

A parable against persecution, in imitation of Scripture language. [1770?] 4°.

Franklin was fond of quoting this as a part of Genesis, and it was printed so as to be inserted at the end of that book, as chapter fifty-first. It was reprinted in Lord Kames's Sketches of the history of man. Afterward a similar imitation of Scripture was found in Jeremy Taylor's Liberty of prophesying. It was long supposed to be a translation from the dedication of a work translated from Hebrew into Latin by George Gentius, in 1651. It is now traced back to Saadi's Rostan. Sparks gives an account of it in volume 2, page 118. In the Gentleman's magazine, vol. 50, page 27, the Parable is reprinted. In vol. 57, page 514, vol. 60, page 609, vol. 61, pages 109, 313, 362, the origin is discussed. On page twenty-four, of "Information to those who would remove to America, London, 1794" [No. 4 in *6553.11], is the advertisement "Lately published, price one half-penny, or 3/ per 100. Poor Richard, 1733. The Almanac for 1733. By Richard Saunders, Philom.

According to Doggett, in his reprint [K.14.7], Franklin continued to work upon this almanac until 1758; according to Sabin, until 1761. He was the sole printer until 1748 or 1749; it was then printed by Franklin and Hall through 1765; and afterwards by Hall and Sellers until 179-. From 1733-1747, the Almanac had 24 pages, but in 1748 was enlarged to 36 pages. Sparks states that a complete set is of doubtful existence. The rarest of the series is the one for 1758. Franklin says: "These proverbs . . . I assembled and formed into a connected discourse, prefixed to the Almanac for 1758, as the harangue of a wise old man to the people attending an auction." This collection is what was afterwards known as the "Way to wealth," and in French as the "Science du bonhomme Richard," and by other titles. It was reprinted in England as a broadside to be hung up, and was three times translated into French before 1800. What numbers of the Almanac are in this Library may be seen in the following title:—

Poor Richard improved: being an almanac and ephemeris: for 1755, 58, 63, 82, 85, 86, 91, 93, 95, 98. By Richard Saunders, Philom. Philadelphia: B. Franklin, and D. Hall [afterwards Hall and Sellers]. 16°. Nos. 1-5, 9, 11, 12, 16, 18 in K.25.13

Stevens speaks of a second edition without date, and a third edition. There are slight variations in the engraved title-pages of the various editions, worked on the one original plate. Dr. Price, the editor of this work, supplements Franklin's autobiography, which here extends to 1731, and which, at this time, was only translated from Buisson's French edition of 1791 (itself a translation from the original English), with Stuber's continuation, which first appeared in the Columbian Magazine [5156.3]. This work, after Price's death in 1791, was held back two years, in expectation that William Temple Franklin would soon issue the genuine autobiography completed to 1757.

On pages 323-335 is a very brief notice of some of the Franklin family; also some extracts from Benjamin Franklin's autobiography, with illustrations.

Some account of the Franklin family may be found in Sparks's edition of the Works, volume 1, pages 539 to 546. In the New England historical and genealogical register, volume xi, pages 17 to 20, is a genealogy, by William Bache. A few copies were printed separately. In the same, volume viii, page 374, is a list of Franklin's descendants, compiled by W. Duane and W. Bache. See also Savage's Genealogical dictionary, volume 2, page 109 [2331.12.2]. On pages 97 to 99, volume ii of The heraldic journal [6226.10] is a paper on the Franklin coat-of-arms, and on Franklin's right to hold it. The editor of the Memorial history of Boston, volume ii, page 270, reprints, from manuscript, a letter by Franklin's father, in regard to his family history, the original of which is in this Library. See also under Edward Everett, in this list, for a reference in regard to the English ancestry of Franklin. Harper's Hazar for May 22, 1880, contains an article on the positions under the United States government, held by descendants of Franklin.

H.95.39; *2324.50

"Dr. Franklin, about the 15th or 16th of December, 1774, received these Proceedings of the Congress, with the Petition to the king, dated the 26th October previous. The times were growing very serious, and it was thought best to let Almon publish them immediately. . . . For a full account of the negotiations that immediately followed through Lady Howe and her brother, see Franklin's long letter to his son, dated 22 March, 1775, on shipboard bound for home. [Sparks, volume 5, page 2.] The original Petition, from which the above was printed, containing the signatures of 50 of the delegates, belongs now to Mr. Stevens' Franklin collection." — H. Stevens.

The original Petition of which Mr. Stevens speaks was signed in duplicate, both copies being therefore equally original. Franklin presented one to the King; and it now is in the Public record office. The other, which he kept, came into Mr. Stevens's collection.

In the number of the above-mentioned magazine for May, 1790, was begun Stuber's biography of Franklin, who had died in April of that year. This biography was continued in the numbers for June, July, September, October, and November, 1790, and for February, March, May and June, 1791. It was here discontinued, and never completed; this being due, no doubt, to the death of Stuber, in his twenty-third year, who had contributed, not the whole, but the greater part. The Autobiography had not been printed when this Life was begun.

What is sauce for a goose is also sauce for a gander. Being a small touch in the lapidary way. Or tit for tat, in your own way. An epitaph on a certain great man. Written by a departed spirit, and now most humbly inscrib'd to all his dutiful sons and children, who may hereafter chose to distinguish him by the name of a Patriot. Philadelphia, 1764. 8 pp. 8°.

A coarse attack occasioned by a political contest in Philadelphia, in 1764, when Franklin was defeated by a small vote, as representative in the Assembly. In "Substance of a council" a lampoon, probably wrongly attributed to Franklin, is found a possible allusion to this attack, as follows: "W . . . n [Wilson?], who was put upon writing that stupid epitaph on Mr. F . . . n."

PART III.

WORKS PRINTED BY FRANKLIN.

The titles in the following pages are intended to include, so far as possible, all books, newspapers, pamphlets, and broadsides, printed or published by Franklin, alone or during his various partnerships; and also several works, with which his connection was in some way interesting. Some of these titles do not appear with desirable fulness, and some even are of doubtful authenticity or correctness; but, imperfect as the list is, it would have been practically impossible to have compiled it without the assistance afforded by the Lists of the issues of the press in Pennsylvania from 1685 to 1769, published by Mr. C. R. Hildeburn, in the Bulletins of the Library Company of Philadelphia for January, 1882, January, 1883, and July, 1883. Mr. Hildeburn is intending to publish a more extended bibliography of the Pennsylvania press, with fuller titles, etc., and, as he has been engaged upon this work for the past three years, this Library is largely indebted to him for his valuable supervision of this list before printing. Professor Seidensticker's Deutsch-amerikanische Bibliographie, in volumes 8-10 of Der Deutsche Pionier, has been of great aid in furnishing German titles. The list of Ante-Revolutionary publications by S. F. Haven, jr., appended to the second edition of Thomas's History of printing in America, Sabin's Dictionary of books relating to America, the Catalogue of the library of George Brinley, part II, and Thompson Westcott's American books and pamphlets advertised in the Pennsylvania Gazette, and printed in the Historical magazine, volume 4, have been of use in finding titles. The suggestions of Mr. Theodore F. Dwight, Librarian of the State Department at Washington, have also been serviceable. Whenever a book mentioned in Mr. Hildeburn's list has not been seen by that compiler, and when its title has not been verified in this list, a note has been made to the effect that he has "quoted" only the title. Corrections or amplifications of this list will be very welcome. The Public Library wishes to obtain, by purchase or gift, all the works here mentioned to which a shelf number is not attached.

An account of the apparition of the late lord Kilmarnock (who was beheaded for being concerned in the late rebellion) to Mr. Foster. Franklin, 1747.

Quoted by Hildeburn. Thomas (Haven's list) mentions Boston and New York editions, but no Philadelphia one.

An account of the treaty held at the city of Albany, in the province of New York, by the governor of that province and the commissioners for Massachusetts, Connecticut and Pennsylvania, with the Indians of the Six nations, in October, 1745. Franklin, 1746. 20 pp. F^o.

Acrelius, Israel. Sermon explaining the duties of Christian subjects to their sovereign, preached in Christiana church, Newcastle county, 1755. Franklin and Hall, 1756. 23 pp. Sm. 8^o.

— Der Tod eine Seligkeit. Rede bei der am 12. Februar 1756 geschehenen Beerdigung Hrn. Matthias Heinzelmans. Aus dem Englischen übersetzt von J. F. Handschuh. Franklin und Armbruster, 1756.

Quoted by Hildeburn.

An address from the trustees and treasurer of The friendly association for preserving peace with the Indians, to William Denny, governor of Pennsylvania. [Franklin and Hall, 1757.] 4 pp. F^o.

Advice to the freeholders and electors of Pennsylvania. [Franklin, 1735.] 7 pp. 4^o.

Allein, Joseph. Alarm to unconverted sinners. Franklin, 1741. Sm. 8^o.

Also sang die Gemeine zu Bethlehem, mit der See-Gemeine vollendet. Franklin, 1742. 4 pp. Sm. 4^o.

Armstrong, John. The art of preserving health. A poem. Franklin, 1745. 88 pp. 4^o.

Arndt, Johann. Sämtliche sechs geistliche Bücher vom wahren Christenthum. Neue Auflage mit Kupfern, samt richtigen Anmerkungen, kräftigen Gebetern über alle Capitel und einem sechsfachen Register. Franklin und Böhm, 1751. (16) ff, 1356 pp. Portrait. 8^o.

There is a description of this book, one of the largest, if not the largest in number of pages, of the Franklin publications, in the Philadelphia Press, November 10, 1870. See also the Brintley catalogue, part 2, page 71, from which the above title is taken in a condensed form: "Es ist dies, trotz des Titels, wahrscheinlich kein in Philadelphia gedrucktes Buch." — Seidensticker. (Der Deutsche Pionier, vol. 10, page 66 [5253-50].) See further his views on this book in the Pionier.

Arscot, Alexander. Some considerations relating to the present state of the Christian religion. [Part I and] II. Franklin, 1732. 2 parts in 1 vol. Sm. 8^o. K.16.12

The art of preaching. (Anonymous.) See Smalridge, George.

Articles of agreement made and concluded upon between . . . the lord proprietary of Maryland, and the proprietors of Pensilvania, &c., touching the limits and boundaries of the two provinces. Franklin, 1733. 19 pp. Map. F^o. K.10.5

Sabin (vol. 14, no. 59896) erroneously ascribes a pamphlet with a title similar to this to Franklin's press. Of this pamphlet Hildeburn says, "It was printed in England as one of the paper books in the chancery suit between Penn and Baltimore."

Same. Franklin, 1736. F^o.

"Reprint, with addition of matter." — Hildeburn.

Authentische Nachricht; — Authentische Relation. See United Brethren.

Baptist association. A confession of faith . . . adopted by the Baptist association, at Philadelphia, Sept. 25, 1742. 6th edition. Franklin, 1743. 112, (2) pp. 16^o.

Barclay, Robert. The anarchy of the ranters, and other libertines; the hierarchy of the Romanist and other pretended churches equally refused and refuted, in a two-fold apology for the church and people of God, called in derision, Quakers. Franklin and Hall, 1757. viii, 11, (1) pp. 8^o. No. 1 in K.15.14

Barton, Thomas. Unanimity and public spirit. A sermon at Carlisle and some other episcopal churches, soon after General Braddock's defeat. Prefixed, a letter from the reverend Mr. [William] Smith, concerning the office and duties of a protestant ministry. Franklin and Hall, 1755. xx, 16 pp. 8^o.

Bechtel, Johannes. Kurzer Catechismus vor etliche Gemeinen Jesu aus der Reformirten Religion in Pennsylvania, die sich zum alten Berner Synodo halten. Herausgegeben von J. Bechteln, Diener des Worts Gottes. Franklin, 1742. 42 pp. 24^o.

In Acrelius's History of New Sweden, pages 330, 331 [*4372.2.11], it is remarked, "as he [Olof Mylander] had gone into Mr. Franklin's printing-office to work for his bread and to pay his debts, so he had an opportunity to bring out in print a little work of Herrnhuttlisch flavor, translated into Swedish, under the title of 'A short catechism,' etc. [in Swedish, "En Kort Catechismus för några Jesu Församlingar utaf den Reformerta Religionen uti Pennsylvania. Först utgifven idet Tyska Spåket af Johanne Bechtel]." From this it may perhaps be inferred that a Swedish translation was printed by Franklin.

Ben Saadi, Nathan, pseud. See Dodsley, R.

Berkeley, George. An abstract from Dr. Berkeley's Treatise on tar water, with some reflections thereon, adapted to diseases frequent in America. By a physician. Franklin, 1745. 12^o.

Franklin is given as the printer in Westcott's list; Hildeburn does not cite the name of the printer. Thomas gives as places of imprint, New York and Philadelphia; and Sabin mentions only a New York edition. It therefore seems doubtful if Franklin printed an edition of this work.

Blair, Samuel. The doctrine of predestination truly and fairly stated. Franklin, 1742. 79 pp. Sm. 8^o. K.16.3

On the title, in the author's autograph probably, is, "To the Revd. Mr. Jonathan Edwards."

— A particular consideration of a piece, entitled The querists. Franklin, 1741. 63 pp. 32^o. K.26.28; Prince library, 28.99

— A vindication of the brethren cast out of the synod of Philadelphia, against the charges of the Rev. John Thompson. Franklin, 1744. 63 pp. 32^o. Prince library, 28.198

Brady and Tate. See Tate and Brady.

Britain's Remembrancer. Being some thoughts on the proper improvement of the present juncture. Fifth edition. Franklin. [1746.] 47 pp. Sm. 8^o.

Hildeburn gives the date of the fifth edition as 1747, and mentions another edition as published in 1746, but does not specify what edition.

Bull, Thomas. A French school-book. Franklin and Meredith, 1730.

Burdon, William. The gentleman's Pocket farrier. Franklin, 1735.

Cadwalader, Thomas. An essay on the West Indian dry gripes. Added an extraordinary case in physick. Franklin, 1745. v, 42 pp. 8^o.

See also Colden.

WORKS PRINTED BY FRANKLIN.

Cato's moral distichs Englished in couplets [by James Logan]. Franklin, 1735. 23, (1) pp. 4^o.

"The collection of moral precepts, in Latin verse, which have come down to us under the name of an unknown 'Dionysius Cato,' was a standard text-book for young scholars in the middle ages, and until the last century. If they can be regarded as classic, this tract may pass for the first translation of a classic which was both made and printed in the British colonies."—Brinley catalogue, part 2. See note in this list under Cicero.

Chalkley, Thomas. A collection of the works of Thomas Chalkley. Franklin and Hall, 1749. xiii, (2), 590 pp. Sm. 8^o. K.24.8

Part 1 is composed of the Journal of Chalkley, which has a separate title-page.

Chew, Samuel. The speech of Samuel Chew, Esq.; chief-justice of the government of New-England, Kent, and Sussex upon Delaware: delivered from the bench to the Grand Jury of the county of New-Castle, Nov. 21, 1741. Franklin, 1741. 16 pp. 8^o.

There was a second edition in the same year.

— The speech of Samuel Chew, Esq. [as in 1741], to the Grand Jury of the county of New-Castle, Aug. 20, 1742. Franklin, 1742. 16 pp. 8^o.

The Christian's duty to render to Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's, considered; with regard to the payment of the present tax of 60,000 pounds granted to the King's use. Addressed to the scrupulous among the people called Quakers. By a lover of his king and country. [Franklin and Hall.] 1756. 27 pp. 8^o.

Chubb, Thomas. An examination of Mr. Barclay's Principles, with regard to man's natural abilities since the fall. Franklin, 1746. 99 pp. Sm. 8^o.

Cicero, Marcus Tullius. M. T. Cicero's Cato Major, or his discourse of old age [translated by J. Logan]: with explanatory notes [by Franklin]. Franklin, 1744. viii, 159 pp. 4^o.

"This book Franklin always considered the chef d'œuvre of his press. He brought many copies to England, and distributed them with evident satisfaction."—H. Stevens. In his preface Franklin speaks of "this first translation of a classic, in this western world."—George Sandys translated Ovid's Metamorphoses [*2939.15] in Virginia more than a century previous. See Dr. S. A. Green's remarks in the Historical nugazine, volume 2, pages 112, 249. In the same volume, page 212, it is stated that a translation of Epictetus's Morals, printed 1729, and Cato's Moral distichs, printed in 1735, antedated the Cato Major.

Colden (?), Cadwallader. Essay on the iliac passion. Franklin, 1741.

Hildeburn quotes this title, but has not seen the book. Dr. David Ramsay, in his Review of medicine in the 18th century, page 35 [No. 17 in Medical pamphlets 139] says, "The earliest publication in America, on a medical subject, which has come in my way, was a treatise on the iliac passion, by the late Dr. Cadwallader." The authorship is ascribed with some hesitation to Colden, although on the authority of Hildeburn and Thomas.

College of Philadelphia. Additional charter of the College of Philadelphia. Franklin and Hall, 1755. 13 pp. F^o.

Colman, Benjamin. A letter from Rev. Dr. Colman, of Boston, to the Rev. Mr. Williams, of Lebanon. Franklin, 1744.

Quoted by Hildeburn.

Conductor generalis: or, the office, duty and authority of justices of the peace [etc.]. 2d edition. Franklin and Hall, 1749. xvi, 592 pp. 8^o.

Conductor generalis. 2d edition, with large additions. Franklin and Hall, 1750. (15), xvi, 464 pp. 8^o. K.14.8

The confession of faith agreed upon by the Assembly of divines at Westminster [sic] . . . Approved by the General assembly 1647, and ratified and established by Act of Parliament 1649, as the publick and avowed confession of the Church of Scotland. With the Scripture proofs at large. Franklin, 1745. 567, (24) pp. 8^o.

According to the Brinley catalogue, "The larger catechism," "The shorter catechism," "The directory," "The form of church government," and other parts, have separate title-pages, eleven in all. The title here given is taken from Sabin, the number of pages from the Brinley catalogue.

Die Confusion von [in?] Tulpehocken. [Franklin, 1742.] 8 pp. Sm. 4^o.

The constitutions of the Free-masons. Containing the history, charges, regulations, &c., of that most ancient and right worshipful fraternity. Reprinted [by B. Franklin]. In the year of masonry 5734. Anno Domini 1734. 4^o.

Every man his own doctor. Or, the poor planter's physician. 3d edition. Franklin, 1734. 56 pp. Sm. 8^o.

— Same. 4th edition. Franklin, 1736. 56 pp. 12^o.

An examination and refutation of Mr. Gilbert Tennent's remarks on the Protestation, presented to the Synod of Philadelphia, June 1, 1741. By some members of the Synod. [Franklin, 1742.]

Ascribed to Franklin's press in Westcott's list. Hildeburn does not mention any printer.

Explanatory remarks on the Assembly's resolves, published in the Pennsylvania Gazette, No. 1840. [Franklin and Hall, 1764.] 2 pp. F^o.

Extract aus Unsers Conferenz-Schreibers. See United Brethren.

Extract of the minutes of the commission of the Synod, relating to the reverend Samuel Hemphill. Franklin, 1735. 13 pp. 12^o.

Finley, Samuel. The approved minister of God. Sermon at the ordination of John Rogers. Franklin and Hall, 1749.

Quoted by Hildeburn.

— Christ triumphing and Satan raging. A sermon at Nottingham in Pensilvania, Jan. 20, 1740, 1. Franklin, 1741. 43 pp. 16°. K.25.6

— Clear light put out in obscure darkness. Being an examination and refutation of Mr. Thompson's sermon, entituled, The doctrine of convictions set in a clear light. By S. Finly. Franklin, 1743. 71 pp. Sm. 8°. K.25.10

On the title-page is "For the Rev^d Mr. Jonathan Edwards of Stockbridge," probably in the autograph of the author.

— Letter [concerning Mr. Whitefield, Messrs. Tennents, etc., and their opposers]. Franklin, 1740.

Quoted by Hildeburn. The part of the title in brackets is taken from Thomas. In the Pruce library [23.96] is A letter to a friend, signed S. Finly, without title-page, containing twelve pages, relating to the same subject as that above, and perhaps the same work.

Fisher, George. The American instructor: or, young man's best companion. Containing spelling, reading, writing, and arithmetick. Added, the poor planters physician. And also prudent advice to young tradesmen and dealers. 9th edition. Franklin and Hall, 1748. v, 378 pp. 12°. K.15.16

Same. 10th edition. Franklin and Hall, 1753. v, 384 pp. 12°.

Franklin, Benjamin. An account of the new invented Pennsylvania fireplaces. [By Benjamin Franklin.] Franklin, 1744. (2), 37, (1) pp. Folded plate. 12°.

No. 21 in *Medical pamphlets, vol. 139

— A catalogue of choice and valuable books, consisting of near 600 volumes, to be sold, for ready money only, by B. Franklin, beginning April 11, 1744. [Franklin, 1744.] 16 pp. 16°.

Hildeburn mentions a Supplement printed by Franklin in 1745.

— A few reasons in favor of vendue. [Franklin and Hall.] No date. Broadside.

— A modest enquiry into the nature and necessity of a paper currency. New printing office [Franklin], 1729. 36 pp. 8°.

Franklin's first political tract.

— A narrative of the late massacres, in Lancaster county, of a number of Indians, friends of this province, by persons unknown. With some observations. [Franklin and Hall.] 1764. 31 pp. 8°.

K.25.28

— Plain truth; or, serious considerations on the present state of the city of Philadelphia, and province of Pennsylvania. By a tradesman of Philadelphia. [Franklin.] 1747. 22, (2) pp. 8°.

— Pocket almanack for the year 1741. Fitted for the use of Pennsylvania, and the neighbouring provinces. By Richard Saunders, Phil. Franklin. [1740.] 16 pp. 32°.

Franklin continued to print this almanack through 1747; and from 1748 to 1765 it was printed by Franklin and Hall. The almanacks for 1744 to 1766, inclusive, form 24 pages each.

— Poor Richard, 1733. The Almanac for 1733. By Richard Saunders, Philom. Franklin. [1732.] 12°.

Franklin was the sole printer until 1747 or 1748; it was then printed by Franklin and Hall through 1765; and afterwards by Hall & Sellers until 1799. The almanacs for 1733-1747 had 24 pages, but that for 1748 was enlarged to 36 pages. The rarest of the series is the one for 1758. Franklin says: "These proverbs . . . I assembled and formed into a connected discourse, prefixed to the Almanack for 1758, as the harangue of a wise old man to the people attending an auction." The numbers of the Almanacs in this Library are mentioned in the following title:—

— Poor Richard improved: being an almanac and ephemeris: for 1748-50, 52, 55, 56, 58, 59-63, 82, 85, 86, 91, 93, 95, 98. By Richard Saunders, Philom. Franklin and Hall [afterwards Hall and Sellers]. 12°. K.25.13

— Proposal for promoting useful knowledge, etc. Franklin, 1743.

Originally printed May 14, 1783, as a circular.

— Proposals relating to the education of youth in Pensilvania. [Franklin and Hall.] 1749. 32 pp. Sm. 8°. K.23.14

— Reflections on courtship and marriage. In two letters to a friend. [Avon.] Franklin, 1746. vii, 68 pp. 4°.

Mr. Hildeburn states that the third edition (1758) refers to Franklin as the author.

— Remarks on a late protest against the appointment of Mr. Franklin as agent for this province. [Franklin, 1764.] 7 pp. 8°.

— Some account of the Pennsylvania hospital; from its first rise, to the beginning of the fifth month, called May, 1754. Franklin and Hall, 1754. 40 pp. 2 inserted plates. 4°;—Continuation of the account of the Pennsylvania hospital; from the first of May 1754, to the fifth of May 1761. Franklin and Hall, 1761. 41-77 pp. 4°. 2 vol. K.12.3

Franklin, William. The answer of his excellency William Franklin, esq.; governor of . . . New Jersey, to the invidious charges of the proprietary party, contained in a libel, read by Mr. James Biddle. [Franklin and Hall, 1765.] Broadside.

Free grace indeed! A letter to Rev. John Wesley, relating to his sermon against absolute election. Franklin, 1741.

Quoted by Hildeburn.

French convert. 10th edition. Franklin and Hall, 1748. 12°.

Hildeburn mentions, but has not seen this edition. This work seems to have been printed a number of times in Boston and New York, previous to this date.

Friendly instructor: or, a companion for young ladies and young gentlemen. Franklin, 1745.

— Same. 6th edition. Franklin and Hall, 1750.

Both of these editions are quoted by Hildeburn.

Friends, Society of. An epistle from our yearly meeting . . . held at Burlington . . . seventh month . . . 1746. To the several quarterly and monthly meetings. [Franklin, 1746.] 4 pp. F°.

— From our yearly meeting . . . at Philadelphia . . . ninth month . . . 1759. To the quarterly and monthly meetings of Friends, belonging to the said yearly meeting. [Franklin and Hall, 1759.] 3 pp. F°.

Galloway, Joseph. An advertisement to the public, December 20, 1765. [Franklin and Hall, 1765.] Broadside.

The General magazine and historical chronicle, for all the British plantations in America. [To be continued monthly.] Vol. 1. January, February, 1741. Franklin. [1741.] Sm. 12°. K.25.12

Six numbers only, of which the Library has two, were published.

Gilbert, Benjamin. Truth vindicated, and the doctrine of darkness manifested, occasioned by the reading of Gilbert Tennent's Defensive war defended. Franklin and Hall, 1748.

Quoted by Hildeburn. The title above is taken from Thomas.

Gillespie, George. A letter to the rev. brethren of the Presbytery of New-York, or of Elizabeth-town. By George Gillespie. Franklin, 1740. 23 pp. 12°.

— Remarks upon Mr. George Whitefield, proving him a man under delusion. Franklin, 1744.

The title is quoted in Webster's History of the Presbyterian church in America, page 340. Mentioned by Hildeburn.

Godfrey, T. The Pennsylvania almanack for 1730-32. Franklin and Meredith. [1729-30.] Goettliche Liebes und Lobesgethoene welche in den Herten der Kinder der Weisheit zusammen ein und von da wieder ausgeflossen. Gedruckt bey Benjamin Francklin in der Markstrasz. 1730. 96 pp. 12°.

This title is abbreviated from that given by Seidensticker in Der Deutsche Pionier, volume 8, page 477 [*5253-50], who says he knows of only one copy of the work.

Grew, T. Almanack for 1735. Franklin, 1734. Quoted by Hildeburn.

Grew, Theophilus. The Barbados almanack, for 1752. Franklin and Hall. [1751.] Broad-side.

In black and red. The probably unique copy in the Philadelphia library has mss. notes by Dr. Franklin.—Sabin. Not mentioned by Hildeburn. At present missing from the Library company of Philadelphia.

Griffith, Benjamin, compiler. A short treatise of church discipline. Franklin, 1743. 62 pp. 16°.

Gruber, Johann Adam. See United Brethren.
Guthrie, William, born 1620. Sermon at Fenwick, August, 1662. Franklin, 1743.

Mentioned by Hildeburn. This authorship seems doubtful from the remark of Watt in the Bibliotheca Britannica, to the effect that some spurious publications were also attributed to Guthrie, but that the Christian's great interest is the only genuine work of his extant.

Hale, Sir Matthew. Sum of religion. Franklin, 1740.

Quoted by Hildeburn.

Hall, David, partner of Franklin. List of newly imported books for sale. [Franklin and Hall, 1765.] Broadside.

Hall, David, of Skipton, Yorkshire. A mite into the treasury; or, some serious remarks on that solemn and indispensable duty of duly attending assemblies for divine worship. Subjoined an epistle to Friends of Knaresborough monthly-meeting. Franklin and Hall, 1758. x, 53 pp. 8°.

Hancock, Rev. John. The examiner, or Gilbert against Tennent, a confutation of the Rev. Gilbert Tennent and his adherents, by Philathes. Franklin, 1743. 31 pp. Sm. 8°.

Hemphill, Samuel. See Extracts of the minutes;—A letter to a friend in the country.

Henry, Matthew. A method for prayer, with scriptural expressions to be used under each head. Franklin ? 1740 ?

Advertised in the back of volume two of Whitefield's Journal, 1740; not mentioned by Hildeburn. Perhaps simply for sale by Franklin.

His Majesty's most gracious speech, Jan. 23, 1734 [1734-5]. Franklin, 1735. Broadside.

Hollatz, David. Die gebahnte Pilgerstrasse nach dem Berg Zion und himmlischen Jerusalem, der Stadt Gottes. Franklin und Ambruster, 1756.

This title is taken from Seidensticker's list.

The honour of the gout; or, a rational discourse, demonstrating that the gout is one of the greatest blessings which can befall mortal man. By Philander Misiatrus. Franklin, 1732. 65, (5) pp. Sm. 12°.

First printed in London. It suggested to Franklin his "Dialogue between Franklin and the Gout" (1780).

Hopkins, Samuel. An abridgment of Mr. Hopkins's Historical memoirs, relating to the Housatunnuk, or Stockbridge Indians. Franklin and Hall, 1757. 40 pp. 8°. K.14.10

The introduction is by Franklin.

— An address to the people of New-England. Representing the very great importance of attaching the Indians to their interest. Printed in Boston, 1753. Being a conclusion to the Historical memoirs relating to the Housatunnuk Indians. Franklin and Hall, 1757. 27 pp. 8°. K.14.5

The Indian tale interpreted and told in English verse. Franklin, 1734.

This title is found in Westcott's list; quoted by Hildeburn.

Der Inhalt der verschiedenen Conferentzen; welche einige Freunde mit etlichen Indianern gehalten. Theils gedruckt bey Benjamin Francklin und D. Haal und aus dem Englischen übersetzt und gedruckt zu Germantown bey C. Saur. 1757. 55 pp. 4°.

This title is taken from Seidensticker's list.

I do not understand the exact meaning of "Thells" in the Imprint, but I think the statement "aus dem Englischen übersetzt und gedruckt zu Germantown bey C. Sower," is sufficiently clear to exclude it from a list of Franklin imprints.—Hildeburn.

Jacobs Kampff- und Ritter-Platz, allwo der nach seinem Ursprung sich sehndende Geist der in Sophiam verliebten Seele mit Gott um den neuen Namen gerungen und den Sieg davon getragen. Gedruckt bey B. F. 1736. 52 pp. 12°.

This title is taken from Seidensticker's list.

James, Philip. Dialogue between a blind man and Death. 3d edition. Franklin and Hall. [1750 ?]

James, Thomas. A short treatise on the visible kingdom of Christ, and the great charter privileges granted to his subjects. Franklin and Hall, 1750.

Quoted by Hildeburn. This title is taken from Thomas.

Janeway, James. A token for children; being an exact account of the conversion, holy and exemplary lives and joyful deaths of several young children. Added: A token for the children of New England. Franklin and Hall, 1749. xii, 108 pp. 24°. K.26.22

Pages 3-10, 31-34, inclusive, are missing in this copy. This title is not in Hildeburn's list.

Ein Jeder sein eigner Doctor, oder des armen Land-Mannes Artzt. Zuerst in Englischer Sprache geschrieben und zum öftern gedruckt, nun aber seiner Vortreflichkeit willen ins Teutsche übersetzt von P. M. Fränklin und Böhm, 1749.

Quoted by Hildeburn. The above title is taken from Seidensticker's list.

Jerman, John. The American almanack for 1731-32. Franklin and Meredith. [1730-31.]

According to Hildeburn, who has not, however, seen any numbers, this almanac for 1733-36, 1741, 42, and 1747 was printed by Franklin alone; for 48-59 by Franklin and Hall.

Johnson, Samuel, D. D. Elementa philosophica: containing chiefly, Noetica, or things relating to the mind or understanding: and Ethica, or things relating to the moral behaviour. Franklin and Hall, 1752. 2 v. in 1. 8°. K.27.1

The "Noetica" and "Ethica" were also both issued by Franklin and Hall as separate works. In this copy the Ethica is of the 2d edition.

— A compendium of logic, including metaphysics, and one of ethics; with a philosophical meditation and religious address to the Supreme Being. By William Smith. Franklin, 1753.

This title is given in Horace W. Smth's Life of Rev. W. Smth [434.65], and is, it is thought, incorrect.

— Ethica. See his Elementa philosophica.
— Noetica: or the first principles of human knowledge. Being a logick, including both metaphysics and dialectic. Franklin and Hall, 1752. xxiv, 96+pp. 16°. K.23.6

Jones, Benjamin. A letter from Benjamin Jones in Alexandria, in Virginia, to John Jones, in Pennsylvania. Taken from a late newspaper. [On the French aggressions at Fort du Quesne.] [Franklin and Hall.] 1754. 7 pp. 12°.

Hildeburn expresses doubt as to whether Franklin and Hall were the printers of this.

Kalendar auf 1758. Franklin und Armbruster. 1757.

Kearsley, John. A letter to a friend; containing remarks on a discourse proposing a preparation of the body for the small-pox. Franklin and Hall. 16 pp. 4°.

Kennedy, Archibald. Serious considerations on the present state of the affairs of the northern colonies. Franklin and Hall, 1754.

Quoted by Hildeburn. There was a New York edition. Sabin says: "Thomas quotes a Philadelphia edition — an error, probably."

Kinnersley, Ebenezer. See Letter to Kinnersley.

Kurtzer Begriff oder leichtes Mittel zu Gott zu beten oder mit Gott zu reden. Franklin und Armbruster, 1756.

This title is copied from Seidensticker's list.

The lady errant enchanted. A poem. Franklin and Meredith, 1731.

Quoted by Hildeburn.

Law, William. Extract from a treatise by William Law, called The spirit of prayer. Franklin and Hall, 1760. 47 pp. 8°.

Lay, Benjamin. All slave-keepers that keep the innocent in bondage, apostates pretending to lay claim to the pure & holy Christian religion. [Franklin, 1737.] 271, vi pp. Sm. 8°.

Letchworth, Thomas. A morning and evening's meditation, or, a descant on the times. A poem. By T. L. Franklin and Hall, 1766. 58 pp. 8°. K.13.13

Letter from a countryman to his friend in the city of Philadelphia [on the Governor's acting as Chancellor]. Franklin, 1735. 2 pp. F°.

A letter to a friend in the country, containing the substance of a sermon preach'd at Philadelphia, in the congregation of the Rev. Mr. Hemp-hill, concerning the terms of Christian and ministerial communion. Franklin, 1735. 4° pp. 12°. K.25.29.

The preface, "The publisher to his lay-readers," is by Franklin, and he may be the author of the whole.

Letter to Ebenezer Kinnersley from his friend in the country, in answer to his Letters lately published. [Franklin?] 1740.

Quoted by Hildeburn. The title is taken from Thomas.

A letter to the people of Pennsylvania; occasioned by the Assembly's passing that important act for constituting the judges of the Supreme court and Common pleas, during good behaviour. The second edition. [Franklin and Hall?] 1760. 39 pp. 8°.

According to Westcott's list the first edition was printed in the same year by Dunlap; the printing of the second edition is assigned to Franklin and Hall, on the authority of the Brinley catalogue.

"Both editions are without a printer's name, and both, in my opinion, were printed by Dunlap. — C. R. Hildeburn.

Letters between Theophilus and Eugenio, on the moral pravity of man. [By B. Franklin?] Franklin, 1747. iv, 64 pp. 4°.

Letters from the dead to the living. By Philaretos. Franklin and Hall, 1750. 43, 5? pp. 8°.

Letzte Privat-Erklärung für Pennsylvania über Jemandes Bericht, der sich nicht nur über eine unter seinem Namen ohne sein Wissen und Willen und noch dazu unganzz gedruckte Schrift beschweret, sondern auch über die Gemeine des Herrn das Urtheil spricht. Franklin, 1742. 12 pp. 4°.

Lewis, John. The church catechism explained by way of question and answer. 13th edition. Franklin and Hall, 1748.

This edition is mentioned by Thomas and Westcott. Hildeburn does not specify the edition.

Library company of Philadelphia. Catalogue of books. Franklin, 1741. 55, 1 pp. Sm. 8°.

Duyckinck's Cyclopaedia of American literature says: "In December, 1732, Dr. Franklin prepared and printed a catalogue without charge." No other authority is known for such a statement.

— The charter of the Library company. Franklin, 1746. 8 pp. Sm. 8°.

— Laws of the Library company . . . made, at a general meeting, on the third day of May, 1742. Franklin, 1746. 15 pp. Sm. 8°.

— Books added to the Library since the year 1741 [with rules. 4 pp.]. [Franklin? 1748?] 28 pp. Sm. 8°.

— The charter, laws, and catalogue of books. Franklin and Hall, 1764. 26, 150 pp. Sm. 8°. K.24.22

Logan, James. The charge delivered from the Bench to the grand inquest, April 13, 1736. Franklin, 1736. 24 pp. 4°.

Sabin calls this a good specimen of Franklin's typography.

— The latter part of the charge delivered to the grand inquest at Philadelphia, the 24th day of September, 1733. [Franklin, 1733.] 3 pp. F^o.

The Brintley catalogue says: "Printed either by Bradford, or Henj. Franklin; probably, the former." Hildeburn ascribes it to Franklin's press without expressing doubt.

— To Robert Jordan, and others, the Friends of the yearly meeting for business, now conven'd in Philadelphia. [Franklin, 1741.] 4 pp. Sm. F^o.

Reprinted in Pennsylvania magazine of history & biography, vol. 6, page 402.

In the Bulletin of the Library company of Philadelphia for July, 1882, page 44, it is stated that "thirty copies were privately printed by the author" of this letter which was never published, nor even read in the Yearly meeting.

Meredith, John. A short discourse, proving that the Jewish, or Seventh-day Sabbath is abrogated or repealed. [Franklin and Meredith, 1729.] 20, (1) pp. Sm. 4^o.

"One of the first works from Franklin's press after he began business for himself, in partnership with Hugh Meredith. . . . Who was John Meredith? That the publication of the "Short discourse" was aimed at Ketner — Franklin's old employer and present rival — seems highly probable. — Brintley catalogue, part 2.

The New-England courant. Boston, 1721-26. F^o.

This, the fourth newspaper published in America, was started by Franklin's brother James, August 6, 1721, and continued by him until January 14, 1723, when an order of council forbade him to print his paper further without supervision; it was then decided that the paper should be nominally published by Benjamin Franklin, at that time an apprentice in James's shop. The first number with B. Franklin's imprint is dated February 11, 1723. There is a file in the Massachusetts Historical society, from November 20, 1721, to June 4, 1726. Franklin left Boston in October, 1723; yet the Courant was printed in his name probably until 1727.

The New-England courant, No. 80. From February 4, to February 11, 1723. Fac-simile of the first paper ever issued by Franklin, and now printed (Boston, Sept. 17, 1856) on a press once used by him. K.21.14

New Jersey. Anno Regni Georgii II. . . . [Acts of Assembly.] Franklin, 1732.

Continued annually until about 1752. Quoted by Hildeburn. Sabin gives Bradford as printer of the Acts for 1732.

WORKS PRINTED BY FRANKLIN.

— Extracts from the minutes and votes of the Assembly; met the 16th of October, 1742. Printed by B. Franklin, by order of A. Johnston; their speaker. Added some notes and observations. Printed 1743. 56 pp. 4^o.

New manual exercises, by general Blakeney; and the evolution of the foot, by general Bland. [Franklin?] 1746.

Same. 1747.

Quoted by Hildeburn. The title for the first edition is taken from Westcott's list.

The note-maker noted, and the observer observed upon; or a full answer to some Notes and observations upon the Votes of the House of assembly of New Jersey. By a lover of true English liberty. [Franklin.] 1743. 31 pp. Sm. 4^o.

Sabin says it was probably printed by Franklin. Hildeburn does not hesitate to ascribe it to his press.

Pennsylvania. An act for forming and regulating the militia of the Province of Pennsylvania, passed . . . March, 1757. [Franklin and Hall, 1757.] 12 pp. F^o.

— An act for granting £60,000 to the King's use [passed Nov. 27, 1755]. [Franklin and Hall, 1755.] F^o.

Pennsylvania: a poem. By a student of the College of Philadelphia. Franklin and Hall, 1756. 11 pp. F^o.

Pennsylvania Gazette.

This Library is indebted to Mr. Hildeburn for the following title and note.

WORKS PRINTED BY FRANKLIN.

Numb. I. The Universal Instructor in all arts and sciences, and Pennsylvania Gazette. To be continued weekly, Decemb. 24, 1728. Philadelphia: Printed by Samuel Keimer, where subscriptions are taken in for this paper, at ten shillings a year, and advertisements inserted at three shillings each.

No. XL. The Pennsylvania Gazette. Containing the freshest advices foreign and domestick. From Thursday September 25, to Thursday October 2, 1729. Philadelphia: Printed by B. Franklin and H. Meredith, at the New Printing-office, near the Market, where advertisements are taken in and all persons may be supplied with this paper at ten shillings a year.

Franklin's account of the origin of this paper is that George Webb, a bound servant of his old employer, Keimer, having found means to purchase the remainder of his time from his master, offered his services to Franklin and Meredith. "We could not," says Franklin, "then employ him, but I foolishly let him know as a secret that I soon intended to begin a newspaper, and might have work for him . . . I told him . . . that the then only newspaper . . . was a paltry thing, wretchedly managed, no way entertaining, and yet was profitable. I therefore freely thought a good paper would scarcely fail of good encouragement. . . . Webb . . . told Keimer, who immediately . . . published proposals for one himself . . . To counteract them . . . I wrote several amusing pieces for Bradford's paper under the title of the Busy Body, which Briental continued some months . . . and Keimer's proposals, which we burlesqued and ridiculed, were disregarded. He began his paper, however, and before carrying it on three quarters of a year, with at most only ninety subscribers, he offered it to me for a trifle, and I, having been ready for some time to go on with it, took it in hand directly."

Keimer's paper was better printed than Bradford's Mercury, but in regard to news it was inferior. Extracts from Chambers' Dictionary, constituting the "Universal Instructor," occupied the first page and a half, and the rest was filled up from the English papers and magazines, with a scanty column of advertisements, and once in a while an original essay or poem. His connection ceased with No. 39, (Sept. 25, 1729). The next number, issued under Franklin's management, is somewhat better printed, but it is in the contents of the paper that the change of hands is most apparent. Essays on topics of interest take the place of Chambers' Dictionary, and the news is greater in quantity and more varied in character. Franklin's next improvement was in advance of the time. With number 44 the Gazette began to appear twice a week, on Mondays and Thursdays, and this attempt to furnish the news more frequently than had been the custom was sustained, with a relapse to a weekly issue from No. 56 to 66, until number 70, when the paper settled down to a weekly for the remaining hundred years of its existence, appearing on Thursdays, with occasional exceptions, during Franklin's ownership. The paper as started by Keimer contained four pages, small folio; this feature was at first preserved by Franklin, except during the bi-weekly issue, when it appeared on a half sheet, but from 1731 to 1736 it frequently filled no more than two pages.

Franklin got rid of Meredith in 1732, and changed the imprint (on May 11, 1732), to "Philadelphia: Printed by B. Franklin, at the New Printing-office" . . . and so continued it until October 6, 1736 (No. 460), when he was able to add "Post Master," immediately after his name. Up to this time the paper had not been very successful in obtaining subscribers or advertisements. But now with the Post Office withdrawn from his rival Bradford and fully at his command the Gazette became the leading paper of the colony in all respects. It continued a small folio of four pages, with occasional supplements and postscripts, until October 6, 1739 (No. 564), when it was changed to a quarto, and the date transferred to the left-hand corner of the top of the page, and a cut of the Proprietary Arms, which was retained until September 10, 1777 (No. 2533), was added. The size of the sheet was enlarged in February, 1741-2, and a third column added; it was again enlarged in 1750 to the size it ever after maintained.

In January, 1747-S. D. Hall's name was inserted in the imprint, which continued unchanged until October 31, 1765, when, to avoid any possible liability under the Stamp Act on the part of the publishers, it was issued until February 20, 1766, without an imprint, and during this time Franklin disposed of his interest in it to his partner, Hall.

About 1752 a half sheet began to be regularly added to accommodate the increased number of advertisements, and to it the imprint was transferred. This being but seldom preserved for binding, the paper is generally found at this period without the publishers' names. In 1757 the imprint was restored to its former position, and the additional space thenceforth required for advertisements and news, generally a whole sheet, was headed "Supplement" or "Postscript," some papers being accompanied by both. — Charles R. Hildeburn.

WORKS PRINTED BY FRANKLIN.

Paper Currency printed by Franklin.

The following statement was prepared for publication in the Bulletin of the Boston Public Library, at the suggestion of Mr. Theodore F. Dwight, Librarian of the Department of State, by Mr. John H. Hickcox, the author of an "Historical account of American coinage," and of "A history of bills of credit, or paper money, issued by New York, from 1709 to 1789." Mr. Dwight states that on the reverse of certain Colonial notes a skeleton leaf is represented, a device adopted to prevent counterfeiting, and that he has been unable to determine when that device first came into use, but it was probably attributable to Franklin's ingenuity. He adds that in the Franklin collection are a hundred or more impressions of leaves, which were undoubtedly prepared for illustration of the scheme, and are identified as Franklin's by manuscript notes in his hand.

Pennsylvania.

First paper money act passed March 23, 1723. £15,000. None of the issue extant. Franklin began to print the Pennsylvania bills with the issue of Feb. 6, 1731; but none of these are extant. The next issue — August 10, 1739 — was also printed by Franklin, and of this issue bills of three denominations only, 5, 15, and 20 shillings, are known to collectors. Franklin said it was "a very profitable job, and a great help to him." After 1748 D. Hall was in partnership with him, and "B. Franklin and D. Hall" continued to print the Pennsylvania bills until 1764, inclusive.

The following issues of Pennsylvania were printed by B. Franklin: —

1731, February 6. — 1 shilling; 1 shilling 6 pence; 2 shillings; 2 shillings 6 pence; 5 shillings; 10 shillings; 15 shillings; 20 shillings. (None extant.)

1739, August 10. — 1 shilling; 1 shilling 6 pence; 2 shillings; 2 shillings 6 pence; 5 shillings; 10 shillings; 15 shillings; 20 shillings. (Five, fifteen, and twenty shillings only extant.)

1744, August 1. — 1 shilling; 1 shilling 6 pence; 2 shillings; 2 shillings 6 pence; 5 shillings. (The one shilling sixpence only extant.)

1746, February 28. — 4 pence; 6 pence; 9 pence; 15 shillings; 20 shillings.

1746, August 1. — 4 pence; 6 pence; 9 pence; 20 shillings. (None extant.)

By B. Franklin and D. Hall.

1749, February 4. — 3 pence; 4 pence; 6 pence; 9 pence. (None extant.)

1755, October 1. — 3 pence; 4 pence; 6 pence; 9 pence; 1 shilling; 1 shilling 6 pence; 2 shillings; 2 shillings 6 pence; 5 shillings; 10 shillings. (Five and ten shillings only extant.)

1756, January 1. — 1 shilling; 1 shilling 6 pence; 2 shillings; 2 shillings 6 pence; 5 shillings; 10 shillings; 15 shillings; 20 shillings.

1757, July 1. — 5 shillings; 10 shillings; 15 shillings; 20 shillings.

1758, May 20. — 1 shilling; 1 shilling 6 pence; 2 shillings; 2 shillings 6 pence; 5 shillings; 10 shillings; 15 shillings; 20 shillings. (The first three not extant.)

1795, April 25. — 5 shillings; 10 shillings; 15 shillings; 20 shillings; 2 pounds 10 shillings; 5 pounds.

1759, June 21. — 50 shillings; 5 pounds.

1760, May 1. — 5 shillings; 10 shillings; 15 shillings; 20 shillings; 50 shillings; 5 pounds.

1764, June 18. — 3 pence; 4 pence; 6 pence; 9 pence; 1 shilling; 1 shilling 6 pence; 2 shillings; 2 shillings 6 pence; 5 shillings; 10 shillings; 15 shillings; 20 shillings.

New Jersey.

The first issue of paper money was dated March 25, 1724. A single specimen only is known to exist.

The second issue was of March 25, 1728, and printed at Burlington, by Franklin, for Keimer. (See Autobiography.) None are extant. Franklin engraved the designs and constructed the copper-plate press.

The several issues of New Jersey bills, printed by Franklin, are: —

1728, March 25. — 1 shilling; 1 shilling 6 pence; 3 shillings; 6 shillings; 12 shillings; 15 shillings; 30 shillings; 3 pounds; 6 pounds. (None extant.)

1730, July 8. — 1 shilling; 1 shilling 6 pence; 3 shillings; 6 shillings; 12 shillings; 15 shillings; 30 shillings; 3 pounds; 6 pounds. (None extant.)

1735, March 25. — 1 shilling; 1 shilling 6 pence; 3 shillings; 6 shillings; 12 shillings; 15 shillings; 30 shillings; 3 pounds; 6 pounds.

1746, July 2. — 1 shilling; 1 shilling 6 pence; 3 shillings; 6 shillings; 12 shillings; 15 shillings; 30 shillings; 3 pounds; 6 pounds. (1 shilling, 15 shillings, 3 pounds, only, extant.)

Delaware.

Bills printed by B. Franklin.
